

BUILDING UP A TOWN

PROMINENT CITIZENS COME OUT STRONGLY FOR SUPPORT OF HOME INDUSTRIES

There is evidently a strong body of opinion in Glendale in favor of dealing with local tradesmen and thus helping to build up the city. The body of opinion gathered by the Glendale Evening News on this matter points to an existent sentiment in favor of patronizing home industries and there is no doubt that from this exchange of opinion will grow up still further sentiment in favor of the practice of dealing at home.

Glendale has a number of excellent stores that are well equipped for business in their various lines of trade and with the amount of patronage that is their due they should be able to build up better business and keep more varied stocks. The life of the city is the reciprocal business of its merchants.

The following are some opinions on this subject from leading citizens:

EDITOR GLENDAL EVENING NEWS:—I am decidedly of opinion that every householder in Glendale should patronize the local merchants. Local interchange of patronage in business is what makes for prosperity and prosperity is what keeps the city going. I believe in the future of Glendale and think it can be advanced by keeping the financial product of the city circulating and reduplicating within its own bounds.

H. E. BARTLETT,
101 Brand Blvd.

EDITOR GLENDAL EVENING NEWS:—I certainly believe it to be the duty of every citizen to patronize the tradesmen who are doing business in their home town. This of course implies that these tradesmen can sell goods, at prices, which while leaving them a fair margin of profit, would be an inducement to their customers to purchase from them. I also feel that Glendale should discourage the coming of any one of the "chain of stores" operated by citizens of another town, with outside capital, which through its ability to purchase in large quantities seriously cuts into the trade of our local merchants who are without this financial backing.

T. W. PRESTON,
725 Adams Street.

EDITOR GLENDAL EVENING NEWS:—I have always known that what makes any city prosperous is the fact that all the citizens are standing together and are resolved to permit nothing in their midst that can possibly militate against the good of the community. It is possible to get as good prices here as in the city. I have found that in my own experience and our family trade is all given to Glendale. I am certain that the Glendale merchants are giving their customers just as good value and at just as low prices as any to be found in the city. By keeping the local capital circulating locally it should be possible to build up the city of Glendale into one of the most prosperous centers in this section.

STEPHEN C. PACKER,
1462 Riverdale Drive.

EDITOR GLENDAL EVENING NEWS:—I and my family buy everything in town. If the taxpayers expect to see the city grow they must aid the local merchants by patronizing them; otherwise they might be forced out of business as has been the case in other places. The Glendale Evening News has done an invaluable service to the city in opening its columns to this discussion. The discussion has made many people think and will be productive of much good to the local merchants.

R. M. JACKSON,
Secretary Chamber of Commerce,
102 S. Maryland.

EDITOR GLENDAL EVENING NEWS:—I believe in patronizing home industries and have always practiced doing so. Everybody who is in business should patronize as much as possible every other one who is in business. This keeps things moving. It creates a friendly feeling among the citizens and makes a better town. Everybody residing here profits by this. This sentiment ought to be agitated and the community aroused to the necessity of cultivating this spirit and putting it into practice.

H. E. BETZ, Brick Contractor,
124 N. Kenwood.

EDITOR GLENDAL EVENING NEWS:—I believe in patronizing home merchants. I am a strong opponent of the practice of sending away to St. Louis, Chicago, New York or Seattle mail order houses (Continued on Page 8)

CROWDS HEAR IRELAND

GREAT INTEREST AT REVIVAL MISSION AT FIRST M. E. CHURCH

There was intense interest at the First Methodist church revival mission Friday evening. Evangelist Ireland was in a happy mood and poured forth his message as a strain that held his hearers with a mighty grip. With a directness which none could mistake he held before all the claims and blessings of the Christian life. At the evangelist's sallies of wit and thrusts of truth eyes would glisten with moisture and then the face break into smiles. The service from beginning to close cast its spell over all.

The subject of Mr. Ireland's sermon was "Choice in the Hour of Decision." He called the attention to the obligation of choice, the value of right decision, the motives governing action and individual responsibility. With story and illustration he enforced his argument till none could deny his positions. As he called for strength and virility in character he cried, "Some young men seem to have slipped out of their Maker's hands before he had in the backbone. It took Luther Burbank years to perfect the spineless cactus, but it takes only a minute in the time of decision to make a spineless young man. Men profess faith in God except when it rains on prayer meeting night or Sunday. God is not limited by the weather. You go to other things in the rain. The right kind of Christianity won't melt in the rain. Let me tell you this, God will honor a strong faith. He will give a young man place and influence in business."

In calling attention to the fact that some people like to boast of their parents' goodness, Ireland said, "Don't trade on your father. He may have been a good, God-fearing man, but you may be a mollycoddle. He may have been a man of great strength of character, but you by your own choice may show that you are a mutt. People live the best of life in frivolity and emptiness and then fling a corpse at the feet of God."

The large chorus led in a spirited song service. There were special numbers by a male quartet and a ladies' chorus.

DEATH OF LOUIS BAKER

Louis Baker, the nineteen-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Baker of 517 West Cypress street passed away at an early hour Friday morning at the Mission hospital following an operation for peritonitis performed Thursday.

Louis Baker was born in New Orleans, Louisiana, nineteen years ago last August and in the year 1901 with his parents, sisters and brothers, came to California. Four years ago Mr. Baker with his family moved to Tropic.

Louis was a most promising young man and beloved by his many friends and acquaintances. Having graduated from the Tropic grammar school he attended the Glendale Union High school, later attending the Woodbury Business college, from which institution he was graduated. Ere long he accepted the position of bookkeeper in the California bank of Los Angeles, which position he was occupying at the time he passed away. He was a consistent Christian young man and was a member of the First Methodist Episcopal church of Tropic as well as a member of the Epworth league of the church. The end came sweetly and peacefully and Louis stepped from this life into that beautiful life beyond surrounded by his loved ones as he whispered these words in reverence: "I know it Jesus; it is all right." A loving father and mother and three sisters and three brothers are left to mourn a loving dutiful son and kind consistent brother: Mrs. Gertrude Baker West, Mrs. Maude Baker Hyer, Miss Ethel Baker, Roger Baker, Allen Baker and Leland Baker. The memory of this manly Christian son and brother will be ever a sweet comfort and consolation.

Funeral services will be conducted at the family residence, 517 West Cypress street, Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock by Rev. Don Ford of the Methodist Episcopal church. Scovern-Letton-Frey Co., Funeral Directors.

FUNSTON WANTS MILITIA READY

MAY ASK WAR DEPARTMENT TO CALL OUT TROOPS IN THE STATES BORDERING ON MEXICO

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

SAN ANTONIO, Texas, March 25.—It is known here that Gen. Funston is anxious to have the militia in the states bordering on Mexico called out. Funston is afraid that trouble may develop at any moment between the American troops now operating in Mexico and the natives who are getting more and more restless under the cunning propaganda that is being carried on to arouse them. It is reported that Funston has asked the State department to take steps to have the militia of the border states patrol the border.

DENY CARRANZISTAS HAVE JOINED VILLA

OFFICIAL REPORTS FROM TEMPORARY CAPITAL AT QUERETARO SAY BANDIT IS UNSUPPORTED

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

MEXICO CITY, March 25.—It was officially reported today from Queretaro, the temporary Mexican capital, that the Carranzista troops are loyal to the government and that all reports published in American newspapers of their defection are given out by parties interested in making trouble to bring about annexation. The Carranzistas are pursuing Villa with the determination to capture him. At the same time it is not denied that there is likelihood of further trouble. Gen. Obregon, who is a strong government man, says that there is no telling when a clash may arise between the Mexicans and the Americans. There will always be danger and anything may develop as long as American troops are on Mexican territory.

MEXICAN CLIMATE HARD ON U. S. SOLDIERS

EXPEDITIONARY FORCE IS NOW IN THE REGION OF SLEET, SNOW, RAIN AND WIND

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

COLUMBUS, N. M., March 25.—Reports from soldiers who have returned from the operations against Villa tend to show that the American troops are beginning to experience the hardships of real campaigning. After having been subjected to an unmerciful baking under a burning sun, being parched with thirst and choked with blistering sand, the United States columns are now compelled to follow the elusive bandit into an ascending region where snow, sleet, rain and bitterly cold winds are sweeping down from the Sierra Madres. There is much distress among the troops and the winter of 1916 will go down in regimental tradition as one of the most severe ever encountered by American soldiers.

VILLA ESCAPES FROM AMERICAN TRAP

MEXICAN BANDIT CLEVERLY EVADES HIS PURSUERS AND IS THIRTY MILES UP SANTA CLARA CANYON

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

EL PASO, Texas, March 25.—Villa, the bandit, cleverly escaped from the trap set for him by the American forces under Col. Dodd and Gen. Pershing and the Carranzistas. When the jaws of the trap closed Villa was not there. Intimately acquainted with every inch of the ground in which the hunt is taking place Villa plays with his pursuers and takes what seem risks of being caught, trusting to his superior knowledge to baffle the Americans. The bandit is now thirty miles up the Santa Clara canyon, in a difficult and mountainous and wooded country, where he has a dozen hiding places. The San Miguel country in which Villa now is, is famous for exploits of Villa's early days. Col. Dodd's cavalry contingent is following Villa, according to Gen. Gavila, a prominent Carranzista.

SUBMARINE ISSUE CONFRONTS AMERICA

TORPEDOING OF THE SUSSEX BRINGS UP ONCE MORE CONTROVERSY BETWEEN GERMANY AND U. S.

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 25.—The submarine issue again confronts the United States government. Secretary Lansing is busily engaged in collecting all the facts regarding the attack on the Sussex and the alleged death of two Americans. He will wait until all the facts are in before deciding on any action. All the important government officials make no effort to conceal the gravity of the situation.

SAY SUSSEX WAS SUNK BY A TORPEDO

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

LONDON, March 25.—Three Americans, who were on board the liner Sussex which was torpedoed in the English channel Friday evening, while on a trip from Folkestone to Dieppe in France, state that they distinctly saw the outline of the German submarine and could trace the course of the torpedo up to the moment when it struck the Sussex. There were thirty, if not more, Americans on board at the time of the torpedoing. Two of them are missing. It is believed that fifty persons lost their lives in the attack.

FEATURES OF BENHUR

REMARKABLE LOCAL TALENT DISCOVERED BY MRS. CORAL HARRISON SLOAN

When the curtain rises on the great spectacular pantomime presentation of Lew Wallace's world-famous novel, "Ben Hur," March 30 and 31, the public will witness the debut of some remarkable local talent. All the actors in this wonderful presentation are under fourteen years of age and many of them have rare qualities in speaking and singing voices; others are endowed with the natural gift for terpsichorean representation of drama.

In the speaking parts there are many remarkable voices. One girl in the part of a Greek singer takes a clever part in a dialogue. In this dialogue Billy Justema, who acts as a fruit peddler from Persia, shows wonderful capacity for comedy. He is a natural comedian and gives life and soul to the whole scene at the Gate of Joppa. His costume is a most elaborate eastern dress and is in itself a feature. Billy is only nine years of age, but those who remember his cleverness in the part of Scrooge in the presentation of Dickens' "Chimes" will realize the great talent of this boy. He will be a character some day.

Cora Louise Butterfield in the part of Hillel, the head of the Sanhedrim, appears to great advantage with her remarkable voice when before King Herod she tells of the prophecies concerning the birth of Christ. This is a striking scene, but is only one of many spectacular features in the presentation which has many more attractive features.

Paul Hutchinson plays King Herod with a clever insight into the character of that wicked old monarch, who slew Mariamne, the wife he deeply loved, in a fit of passion and who cruelly ordered the massacre of the children of Bethlehem in the hope that he might kill the "King of the Jews," the infant Christ.

Another youthful local boy with the gift of a fine voice has been discovered by Mrs. Sloan in the person of Walter Tuffer, who takes the part of the hortator on board the Roman galley "Astraea." Young Tuffer has real elocutionary talent.

There are many tuneful and dramatic pieces of music scattered throughout the presentation. Not the least doubtful of these is "Tirzah's Serenade," which is in the form of a duet sung by two children with wonderful voices—Lillian Mason and Ellen Schramm.

In every way the presentation of "Ben Hur" will be a most interesting and attractive entertainment. With 250 children in the piece it should have a charm of its own. As a combination of musical, dramatic and terpsichorean talent it has never been surpassed in Glendale.

JESSE SMITH HOST

Jesse Smith, the versatile, dependable member of the Glendale Ford Agency, Smith, Walker, Middleworth, was host as representing the agency in the capacity of entertaining several of the Ford officials of the Los Angeles agency at the Casa Verdugo restaurant Friday evening, March 25.

Those present to enjoy the hospitality of Mr. Smith were A. H. Moeller, assistant manager of the Los Angeles Ford agency; Geo. Dunton, cashier of the agency; H. F. Goodrich, salesman; H. A. Sanderson, accountant; E. M. Fillmore, manager Pasadena branch; H. W. Walker of the Glendale Ford agency. These out-of-town gentlemen were in Glendale in attendance at Masonic doings and Mr. Smith grasped the opportunity of giving his friends a substantial treat.

RECEPTION TO MINNESOTANS

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Stillman Chase, 1500 Riverdale drive, gave an informal reception Saturday afternoon, March 18, at their home in honor of those persons from their home town, Faribault, Minn., who are sojourning at nearby places in California. Orange blossoms, daffodils, Cherokee roses and bridal wreaths were used as decorative effects throughout the house. In the diningroom St. Patrick's day colors and flowers were in evidence. During the afternoon guests to the number of 43 called, coming from Los Angeles, Hollywood, Pasadena, Whittier, Eagle Rock, Pomona and Glendale to enjoy the hospitality of their host and hostess.

Dr. and Mrs. Roy V. Hogue and son Benjy, with Mrs. Addie Allen, motored to San Diego this morning where they will remain several days.

POISON OAK CURE

GLENDAL CALIFORNIA CHEMICAL COMPANY BEGINS OUTPUT OF REMEDY

Glendale has had another establishment added to her local industries. This latest addition is the Glendale California Chemical company, 336 Everett street. The incorporator and director of this company is Charles E. Stanley, who has had quite an interesting career as a member of the United States Secret Service. After many years' service Mr. Stanley has retired to take up the development of various inventions which promise him a comfortable income.

Not the least profitable of his productions is that which will be manufactured at the Everett street factory. This is known by the trade name of "Oakure." It is an infallible remedy for poison oak poisoning, wounds and bruises of all kinds. This admirable compound has been tried out in various districts and invariably with success. In Glendale and its vicinity more than 35 cases of oak poisoning have recently been cured.

Mr. Stanley is assisted in his work of the manufacture and sale of "Oakure" by his stepson, Morris E. Andrews, who is also a member of the Glendale California Chemical company. They have already made arrangements by which "Oakure" will be sold by the Glendale Pharmacy, Roberts and Echols and the Munson Drug Store. It will also be handled by the Tropic Pharmacy. Other drug stores in neighboring towns will also handle it and the business of its manufacture and sale is likely to grow to considerable dimensions. In Los Angeles it will be handled by the Brunswick Drug company.

Mr. Stanley is also busy with the patenting of other inventions of his own. One of these is a test for spurious gold and silver coins. This is in the form of a small pencil point in a diminutive wooden case which can easily be carried in the pocket of the reticule. It is an instant detector of false coinage. When wet and rubbed on a spurious gold or silver coin it turns the metal black at once. Pure coins remain unaffected by the test.

Mr. Stanley is more the rediscoverer of this test than the inventor. The original inventor died without leaving the formula for the test and Mr. Stanley was urged by George W. Hazen, chief of the Southwest district of the Secret Service, to endeavor to find out what it was composed of. He did so and the test is now being used by the secret service men.

Mr. Stanley has also other processes and inventions which he intends to patent. These various undertakings and the manufacture and sale of "Oakure" are likely to keep him busy for some time to come.

SELLING WITHOUT LICENSE

The police arrested Friday a Japanese peddler who was operating in this city without a license. Togo said that he would not take out a license. He would rather shake the dust of Glendale from his feet and find some more lenient city where the police cease from troubling and no licenses are required. Judge Whomes sentenced Togo to pay a fine of $3. The man from Osaka declared that he had not a cent where-with to bless himself; whereupon the judge ordered him to be searched; whereupon Captain Herald extracted from the daimio's not over-clean vest a small tin box containing $43 in current coin of the republic. Three dollars was deducted from the sum and the judge's only regret was that he had not seen the cash box before imposing the fine. Still refusing to take out a license Togo went on his way, with Captain Herald dogging his heels, to see that he did not begin peddling again.

ROBBING OUR FELLOWS

O. C. LOGAN OF ESPESERO DE
VERDUGO SAYS CUT-RATING
IS THE DISEASE OF BUSI-NESS

Glendale News:

I read with much interest the many articles appearing in the Saturday issue of your valuable paper on trading at home and the benefits the community derives from patronizing home merchants, which were indeed very commendable.

I for one cannot complain of the treatment accorded me by the people of Glendale. I believe they are very patriotic, have confined their trade to the merchants in this community in the past and will continue to do so in the future if the merchants will co-operate with the people and guide them by explaining what it means to the merchant and themselves to patronize home trade and industry. Many people unknowingly spend money which leaves the community. For instance, a loaf of bread bought from a peddling wagon from an outside district means a loss of two cents to a local merchant who hires help, pays rent, electric lights, taxes in his home town and patronizes or should patronize all other local merchants, thus helping the town.

Merchants, let us ask the people of Glendale to watch where their dollars go, ask them to make it a rule to buy from a local firm whenever possible, even if it is only a loaf of bread.

I wish to draw attention to what I think is of more importance to the prosperity of a town than any other factor. Mr. Business Man, what use have you been able to make of the patronage you have made and why cry for more when you have been unable to profit by what you have had in the past. Will it not be as impossible to be benefited in the future as it has in the past with business in such a diseased condition as it is at present and has been for years. Can you show me a merchant or a contractor among you who without speculation has made more than a living?

Still the cry has been and is still "Sell for less." The public has been cultivated by unprincipled business methods and advertisements until they do not know when they are buying cheap or when they are paying what an article is worth. So today no article has a value but our coin.

I was taught when I went to school that it takes a thousand men to make a loaf of bread. If so can it be sold for less than it cost to produce it and not injure every one of them? Do you not see what an important part we retail merchants take in this world? Why should we be so unprincipled as to not only rob our own but all our fellowmen by this system?

The merchant takes the same place as the horseshoe nail, for the want of which a kingdom was lost. He is the keystone of prosperity or the destruction of the country as he sells goods either at a profit or a loss. Cut-rating is the disease of business and its ravages have put business in a deplorable state. The conservative merchant is the only one who is of benefit to the community and has the community's welfare at heart. He can afford to be honest. True economy consists in not buying cheaply, but getting value for your money. The grocer and butcher hold your health, the most important asset you possess, at their disposal.

The manufacturer robs labor and sacrifices quality to meet the demands of the cut-rater.

I hope that my meaning will not be misconstrued and it be thought that there is a selfish motive behind this article. On the other hand I would gladly suffer to put the honest, conscientious merchant in the right place before the public. I write this in a patriotic spirit in the hope that it will aid in bringing about the prosperity we so much desire, but can never hope to have as long as we ask our fellowmen to work for less or sell for less than it costs him to live.

Let us have a funeral and bury cut rating.
Yours for prosperity, health and good will.

O. C. LOGAN.

The moving picture game is a queer one. We now have scores of stars who were glad to carry the banner in the legitimate. And whether they are any more compelling now than they were then is open to question.

And what most women would like to know is why a hat on her own head doesn't look like the same hat on the head of the living model.

A black frock may be freshened by sponging it with alcohol mixed with water in the proportion of one part alcohol to three of water. The garment should be sponged on the right side, but ironed on the wrong.

The old world has lost her compass. Thus a world-wide transformation must supervene and the politics of the nations of the earth must be purified if the fruits of the grand work of our sires are to be realized and bear in richness and prolificity.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

VALUE OF COMMUNITY RECIPROCITY

The community that is made up of a class of people who can see the advantages gained by dealing fairly with one another is a prosperous community. The people of every community must be supplied with food, clothing, machinery and tools. No single individual is capable of producing all of these needs—it must be the work of many people. The well-organized community should be able within themselves to produce the bulk of all articles needed. The farmer or the ranchman is the main spoke in the wheel, for it is upon him the people of every community look for the necessities of life.

Glendale, like every other settlement, has on the borders and even within the corporate limits of the city industrious ranchmen who are gathering from the land abundant crops of vegetables and fruits. The products of the earth are being placed upon the market, and in so far as it is expedient, residents of the Glendale community should purchase these vegetables and fruits as their needs may require instead of making the purchases from dealers and ranchmen of other communities. The money the local groceryman pays to the community ranchman for vegetables is in turn very likely paid to the local hardware man for garden tools and cooking utensils and the hardware dealer spends a portion of that money with the local drygoods merchant, and the drygoods merchant being in favor of community buying, becomes a customer of the furniture dealer.

Every producer of products in a community should receive the individual support of the people of that community. The local baker should furnish the bread to the people of the community in which he lives and the local garage man should do the repairing of automobiles for the people in the community in which he resides. Of course the service given in all instances must be good. All goods sold, regardless of the selling place, should be sold at a profit over the cost of production and people of a community should see to it that these profits are distributed among community dealers and producers.

The quality and service should always be good, and it stands the local dealer or producer in hand to be a hustler. He need not expect to get the business of his fellow community men unless he merits it, and when his enterprise is such that he merits their patronage he should get it.

In making purchases, churches, schools and clubs should, so far as possible, patronize the community dealers. The financial support in the form of taxes and contributions, of these institutions comes from community people, and it is only just and right that all purchases so far as possible should be made in the community concerned. The teacher is unreasonable and shortsighted who will receive a salary taken from a fund that is made possible by taxing community people, and then spend portions of that salary for merchandise selected in outside communities, when it is possible to make the purchases from local dealers.

A community is a large business institution similar to a department store, and the financial success of a community depends upon the thorough co-operation of all departments of that community. The ideal Glendale community should not make it possible for foreign bakery wagons, foreign laundry wagons, foreign ice wagons, foreign house furnishings wagons or foreign anything to be circulating on the streets. The consumer and the dealer should come together on all these questions and have conditions such that the profits on all sales will remain in Glendale.

Wheels of machinery will revolve just as well in the Glendale community as in larger cities; the Verdugo canyon water will

CHRISTIAN CHURCH

Next Sunday the Brotherhood team of redeemed men from "Christ's Mission" in Los Angeles will have charge of the evening service at the Christian church. These men come under the auspices of the Christian Endeavorers and will tell the story of their redemption. Christ's Mission is supported by the Christian Endeavorers. It is doing a great work. Men from every walk of life, men of culture and refinement, who have gone down in sin, have here found God and a clean life and they are telling others about it.

PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

Mr. James Garth, pianist and composer, so well known at the Brown and Curry meetings in Glendale a year ago, will assist in the splendid musical program Sunday evening at 7:30 in connection with brief reports from Whittier C. E. convention. The pastor will conduct the installation service of new C. E. officers.

Morning worship at 11 o'clock. Sermon topic, "As It Was in the Beginning."

3400 r. p. m. Chalmers Means Gallant Going Over All Kinds of Roads

The swift, silent breathing of the unique engine of the new 3400 r. p. m. Chalmers is faster than that of any other car on the road.

Without gasp or throb, this weird, aluminum-lunged beast inhales a mist of gasoline through the tiny nostril in its carburetor so rapidly that it can spin its motor at the supreme velocity of 3400 revolutions per minute.

High engine speed in a racer means just one thing—track-burning car speed.

But the high-speed engine of the 3400 r. p. m. Chalmers means automobile attributes not measured in mere speed alone.

It means the whole gamut of performance most desired by men and women who demand more from a car than a beltful of racing records.

Chalmers engineers have translated superlative engine speed into the composite boon of pick-up, poise, and power.

The versatility of this vehicle has won it the vigorous O. K. of every person I know for whom it has performed.

The 3400 r. p. m. Chalmers does everything a car should do. It wrings 18 miles of gallant going out of every gallon of gas, a mile a minute if you're keen for speed.

Always there is the feeling of velour beneath my accelerator foot.

This car has the liveliness of a spirited mare, with a Pullman-like stability that keeps your back-seat passengers from rattling around like peas in a pod, which happens in so many other light, fast cars.

This able Six is heavy enough and so finely poised that its four wheels stay always on the ground, with direction as straight as a bullet.

By transforming this car's superabundance of brute might into all-round performance, Chalmers engineering has saved you from $150 to $200 worth of fuel per year.

So it's a sane and sensible buy from every slant—and the smart ones whose sense of values hasn't been blunted by prosperity are dropping around with their check-books.

JOSIAH'S SECRET

Josiah (looking up from his paper)—I want you to hear this, Samantha. Here is eloquence and good horse sense. I feel that I love the man that wrote it—love him like a brother. You know I always contended that wimmen wuz too weak and helpless to vote, even if they knew enough, which they don't.

Samantha (stretching her weary form and leaning on the churn dasher)—Yes, I know you always argued that way, but what is the piece, Josiah?

Josiah—Oh, he is answerin' a woman's suffrage argument. He sez the idee of a great strong man allowin' a weak and delicate woman to vote or endure any other hardship is perfectly obnoxious and repugnant to any one that has the spereet of a man. The very idee of lettin' them dear, weak critters strain themselves liftin' at the political pole is more than a tender-hearted man can endure. And he goes on to say, "If I were a woman I would do nothin' important; I would emulate the rose and its wisdom; I would allure and charm and be silent. Man wuz made to protect woman, to work for her and to vote for her. Woman wuz made to smile on man and charm him in his hours of ease." Do you hear that, Samantha, that masterly, convincin' logic?

Samantha (resuming her churning)—Yes, I hear it, Josiah. But I want a pail of cold water; you know I have to draw it up by hand since the pump broke, and git a ten-quart pail of water on the end of the pole. I don't believe the political pole would draw much harder.

Josiah—Yes it would, Samantha; I guess you'd find it drawed harder. Wimmen little know the awful tuck-erin' work it is to vote.

Samantha—I always said that wimmin did harder work than to vote and men never seemed to worry about that.

Josiah (solemnly)—No, they don't do any harder work, Samantha. Votin' wears on us strong-minded men turribly, and what would it do to a weak, fragile woman? Oh, this man puts men and wimmen in their different spears so beautiful and so plain that it seems as if a infant babe, or even a woman could understand it. (Josiah steps nearer to Samantha and points to the piece in the paper). If you'd follow this man's idees, Samantha, I'd be the happiest man in Jonesville or the world.—"Josiah Allen's Wife," in The People's Home Journal.

INCREASED PRICE OF GASOLINE

It is figured by an expert that the increased price of gasoline is costing California owners $32,025 daily more than last September. He multiplied the number of automobiles now in operation, 151,222, by the daily consumption of gas per car—three gallons, or a total of 453,666 gallons total daily average, which at present cost of gasoline means that California spends $83,928.21 daily for that commodity alone.

BARGAIN FOR LOVERS

"You play safe here," reads the advertisement of a San Francisco jewelry firm which sells diamond engagement rings. In an advertisement today it said: "Money back if it doesn't take. We will refund your money if the girl goes back on you and leaves you with the diamond ring."

The fundamental principle of the exercise of any governmental function is in its equality of action.

RELIABLE LOCAL MILK DEALERS

It is given as a fact that one of the prime reasons for the rapid growth of business in Glendale is that the people are loyal to their home business concerns. It might be well for Eagle Rock people to think on this matter. This is true of the Glendale milk dealers as well as in other lines as evidenced by the rapid growth of two or three dairies in that city. The same could happen here where the dairies handle only the best milk.—Eagle Rock Sentinel.

WALK 3200 MILES

If you don't feel well just take a nice little walk of 3200 miles and you'll feel better. This is the prescription offered today by Mrs. W. S. Jarbo, who with her husband arrived in San Francisco on the first lap of her "hike." The couple started from Kansas City and will keep going until they reach New York. Mrs. Jarbo says she is feeling fine now. A Kansas City doctor gave her but a short time to live.

The "Alden Bessie," the old hulk at Los Angeles harbor that has been ready for the junk pile for many years, is being overhauled and will soon put to sea with a rich cargo. A motion picture company purchased the "Alden Bessie" a couple of years ago for $1,200, and she was recently sold for $10,000. In spite of the low tariff, the Panama tolls and a Democratic administration, American shipping is rapidly reviving.

St. Louis is trying a new experiment with the race problem. By a referendum vote, a big majority adopted an ordinance which provides for the segregation of the negro. It is the simple plan used by real estate subdividers in restricting residence districts applied to the whole municipality. This plan of separating the races will be watched with interest.

A DRY INTOXICANT

HOW TO INCREASE BUSINESS

Demands on individual time and energy when overdone speedily exhaust the individual. The human machine has a certain limited capacity for output of energy and although in exceptional cases there is a reduplicating capacity in the brain, whereby cellular action is doubled when called on, this "cellulative energy" has its limits also and the most gifted individual is always liable to the danger of being overworked and worked out. This, of course, is folly. It is a folly which men, as a rule, never apply to a valuable horse.

In like manner even the richest community cannot go on paying to outside centers the money which it earns without ultimately impoverishing itself. No community can go on drawing on its financial energy and dissipating it in other cities without crippling and in the end destroying its own industries and businesses.

Every city owes it to itself to see that there is a reciprocity in business. The butcher must deal with the tailor or the tailor is likely to have no money to buy meat and similarly if the tailor buys no meat of the butcher the butcher must go on wearing old clothes. This intimately concerns everyone in a community. If there is no circulation of money there can be no trade. The blacksmith must deal with the local grocer or the local grocer will have less capacity to purchase auto trucks and keep them in repair.

In similar manner the baker, the painter, the tinsmith and a score of other small business men are dependent on the circulation of local money and the obtaining of home patronage. Reciprocity in local business should be the slogan of every local merchant, every local business man and every tradesman in the city. If this spirit can be translated into action the city cannot fail to grow and business cannot fail to increase.

Glendale is a growing city. Its building permits are on the increase and if to the natural growth and constant additions to the city by the settling here of people from other places is added the determination of the citizens to aid and help each other in their business, there is really no limit to the progress and prosperity of the community.

This is really a community affair. A community is like a family. If there is a division in the family there is likely to be a disruption. If there are diverse and conflicting interests in the family circle one may look to see ere long a breaking up of relationships. No one in a family or in a community can serve two masters.

The first duty of the members of a community is to the community itself. The dissipation of a community's finances by distributing them through other centers is like the wasting of a family's finances by one member. Such a process inevitably leaves one section to face narrowing means and perchance dire poverty.

Unity in a city is communal strength. Unity in the interchange of business is the only principle that can make and keep a community happy, contented and prosperous. Patronize your home industries; your home people of all kinds. Patronize the district that feeds the city, which is of as much importance as any. In this consideration The News is speaking for Tropic, North Glendale and the adjacent territory. The whole district hangs together and must be considered as one.

TO THE CITIZENS OF GLENDALE:

For more than a year there has been carried on in this city a persistent campaign of misrepresentation intended to discredit the present city administration in the eyes of the people of Glendale.

No doubt, the purpose of the movement has been clear to many of you from the beginning, but the present municipal campaign has brought forth facts which make that purpose entirely clear, viz.:

The leaders of this faithful little band want to obtain control of the city administration, as is evidenced by the fact that most of them are now active candidates for office, either elective or appointive.

We have been silent during these past months when our ability and integrity have been assailed, because we knew how hopeless is the task of trying to stop the mouths of those who seek to misrepresent and vilify. We have been silent because we knew that a great many of our constituents were thoroughly familiar with the dispenser of that sheet of innuendo and insinuation, the Plaindealer, and would judge his statements and motives according to his deeds.

We have kept silent because we can have only pity for a man of naturally keen intellect whose diseased brain has led him so far from the path of facts and truth. But now that the purpose of this unscrupulous misrepresentation has blossomed forth in all its splendor and since the authors seek to transfer their campaign of vituperation to other men who oppose them in their desire to fasten their grip upon the affairs of the city, we deem it only fair and just to make this brief statement to all the voters of Glendale.

The books, records, maps, accounts, everything connected with the affairs of the City of Glendale have always been open to the inspection of any citizen of the City of Glendale. No attempt has been made to deceive the people or to hide anything from the public gaze. An open minded investigation of city records and practices will show:

First. That no public funds have been wasted.

Second. That no city official receives money for himself through Petty Cash Funds.

Third.—That no bids for any work or material have ever been let to any other than the lowest responsible bidder.

Fourth. That no dead-head relatives or petty politicians are being pensioned at the expense of the city.

But examination and comparison will show:

First. That Glendale is getting more and better service in return for its taxes than any city in Southern California.

Second. That the Public Service Department is one of the best managed and most efficient business institutions in the State.

Third. That the water and light rates are far below the average city rates in this State.

Fourth. That the Glendale city tax rate (this does not include school tax—the Board of City Trustees have nothing to do with School tax) is lower than the average tax rate in Southern California.

Fifth. That the men and women employed by the city give as intelligent service in return for the money received, as do the employees of any municipality in the State.

Sixth. That the purchase of the Brand Pumping Plant is proving to be the greatest boon that Glendale possesses.

Seventh. That the Public Service Department is entirely self-supporting, notwithstanding the fact that the rates for water and light are constantly being reduced.

Finally—Mr. and Mrs. Newcomer or old inhabitants, be not hasty in your judgment of things as they are. First know the character of the one who casts the stone. Dissect his motives, learn if you can what his personal grudge is, what job he seeks—all these things lead to bias and distorted view.

With you, the people of Glendale, the case rests.

No member of the present Board of Trustees is a candidate for office. We do not expect that the new Board, no matter how constituted, will pursue entirely our methods or policies. That would not be human. But we are intensely interested in seeing Glendale continue the pace of progress that she has maintained in the past, and to that end the citizenship of this city must put men in office who are more than mere fault-finding, job hunting, reactionaries, men who are above the petty bickerings of the street corner, men who have a vision of Glendale as Glendale should be—A Glendale of Progress—Look well to your ballot.

Willisford of the First Congregational church, has just received a postal card from her brother, Mr. Louis Ashbaugh, who is at present in the Hudson Bay territory in the north of Ontario province, Canada. Writing from Timmins, Ont., Mr. Ashbaugh sends a photograph of himself and a partner with a dog sled in the deep snow of the north. He is a hydraulic engineer and has been engaged for some time past in making a survey of water powers up among the ice and snow. He has thoroughly enjoyed the fine, clear winter climate there.

TROPICO

Mrs. Kate Markley of Topeka, Kansas, was the midweek guest of Mrs. W. H. Van Hazelen of West Park avenue. This is the first meeting of these two dear friends in the past thirty years and many happy and pleasant memories of the long ago were recalled.

Mrs. Myra C. K. Shuey entertained as her guest at luncheon Thursday Miss Mattie Gray of Los Angeles.

Miss Mabel Van Hazelen and sister, Miss Ada Van Hazelen, entertained as their guest the past week Miss Jeannette Meurs of Wilmar.

The choral club of Tropico will give the dramatic cantata "Ben Hur" in the First Presbyterian church of Tropico Thursday evening, March 30. This musical or choral club has been holding many rehearsals under the able direction of Mr. Charles Stewart, and the presentation of this musical drama will be the first of the kind ever attempted in Tropico.

As is readily conjectured the cantata is founded on the book of "Ben Hur" written by Gen. Lew Wallace of Indiana. The cantata begins with the early life, teachings and works of Christ; portrays the effect of the life of Christ on the Jews. The finale of this dramatically portrayed cantata is the crucifixion of the Christ. Forty voices will be heard to splendid advantage in this cantata, while the principals will be Mrs. Julia Byloff Stewart, soprano; Miss Dorothy Hobbs, mezzo soprano; Mrs. Joy Nash Ford, contralto; Wayland Brown, tenor; Dr. P. O. Lucas, baritone; Eugene P. Bayha, bass.

Wayland Brown very cleverly portrays the character of Ben Hur, while Eugene P. Bayha assumes the role of Messalida. Miss Katherine Hobbs will preside at the piano.

GLENDALE FOOTHILLS

It is expected that a new home will be erected soon on Kenneth road close to Valley View road by L. E. Bookman of Los Angeles. Mr. Bookman has purchased a one-acre lot in that section and is making plans for its improvement.

La Ramada was invaded Friday evening by a party of twelve from Claremont, Cal. Mrs. England, however, was able to give them special attention, which greatly pleased them. After dinner the party had the floor cleared for dancing and a pleasant dance was enjoyed. The dancers were enthusiastic over the fine floor. As the fact that there is so good a floor at La Ramada becomes known these impromptu dances are becoming quite common at the restaurant.

One of the guests the other day mentioned that he had seen moving pictures that were taken in La Ramada in the Philippine Islands. He said that the beautiful setting of the restaurant attracted not only himself but others who will probably some day be visitors at La Ramada when they get back from the tropics.

Mr. George Mitchell of Kenneth road returned Friday from his ranch in Wyoming. He has been spending some time superintending the spring roundup.

Mr. James Connors, 1662 Kenneth road, is busy cutting alfalfa, of which he has a very fine crop.

The Stragglers' club had an informal meeting Thursday at which it was determined to look out for a permanent place of meeting. It was stated that there was a prospect of obtaining several important members by next meeting.

It is hoped that a large attendance of the Baraca class of the Methodist Episcopal Sunday school will be in the class room Sunday morning. Mr. Frank Nay will give the discussion of the mission lesson, after which Evangelist Ireland will give a short talk before the class.

The Water comes direct from the wonderful aqueduct system, the great San Fernando reservoir being only four miles away.

Nowhere in Southern California has there been such success in chicken raising as in the San Fernando Valley. In four years this community has become the Petaluma of the South and is fast rivaling the northern city in Poultry and Eggs; but is it any wonder that the hens never tire of laying where conditions are such as found in this Valley?

The Midway Park Lots and adjoining acres are selling fast. We want you to come with us on one of our Free Excursions and see for yourselves what a wonderful community is lying at the city's door. We give you a ride to the interesting points in the Valley and a free course dinner—and you will find the few hours well spent and profitably so, if you will open your purse strings just a little and secure a Lot or Acre in Midway Park.

The terms are very reasonable, 10 per cent down and $10.00 a month secures an acre in Midway Park.

An Englishman has invented a magnifying glass that can be fastened to tools with which fine work is being done that the lens always is focused on the object.

"It is the duty of scholars and philosophers not to shrink from holding and expressing what men of the world call quixotic opinions, for, if I read history of the world rightly, the victory of reason over unreason, and the whole progress of our race, has generally been achieved by fools rushing in where angels fear to tread, till after a time the track becomes beaten and even angels are not afraid."—Max Miller.

THE SPIRIT OF THE LAW

By Julia Chandler in Woman's National Weekly

Whenever The First Man was tempted by the flesh pots of the world he put them aside because of his firm belief that "the wages of sin is death."

From his childhood his mind had been turned into orthodox channels. He believed in a literal heaven and a literal hell.

His God was capable of an implacable hate that condemned His creatures to eternal torture because of the sins committed in the flesh.

So The First Man read into his Bible the letter of the law, and altogether missed the spirit thereof.

He kept the ten commandments through slavish fear.

He gave to the poor because the Christ preached charity, and The First Man believed obedience essential to his eternal salvation.

He became a pillar of the church, not because he hoped to use the church as a cloak for his failure to live up to the religious creed which he professed.

But the world called him a clean and honest man.

The church said he was a Christian whose salvation was secure.

Throughout his life The First Man's actions conformed to the orthodox idea of right not because the heart of him loved the right, or the thought of him reveled in things that are clean and honest and of good report, but because of his fear of God's judgment in the event of his failure in literal obedience to the law.

And when he died everybody said that the world had lost a good man; fathers pointed him out to their sons as a shining example of righteousness, but no one shed a tear or felt aught of grief when he was lowered into his grave.

When just a little shaver The Second Man was one day accused by a comrade of pursuing a certain course because of the fear of a thrashing.

Whereupon the little lad looked his accuser over contemptuously with clear, frank eyes, and assured him that he had no fear save of himself.

Which was the principle upon which The Second Man builded his life and its work.

He did not always conform to the letter of the law as he went his way. He was never a pillar of the church.

When he read the story of the Master's life he was so flooded with the spiritual grace of it that he never formulated a simple theory concerning the possibilities of everlasting fire.

Full many a time he stumbled along the way, but when he got up and turned his face toward God it was a new sense of sympathy for his fellow man; a firmer feeling of brotherly love and a more earnest desire to help those weaker than himself.

And when he did the right it was because he loved the right and not because he feared the wrong.

His heart was tender toward the world, and the world so loved him that when he died many there were who wept.

But the church refused him Christian burial because The Second Man's life had been one of actual service to his fellow-man rather than an earthly span of hymn-shouting, and creed-reading within its orthodox doors.

When The First Man stood before his Creator it was with head erect and confident air.

"Behold I am here, Lord," he declared with pride.

"I am a righteous man.

"From my youth up I have kept Thy commandments.

"I have given to the poor with generous hand.

"I am an honored member of the Church of Christ."

Whereupon God stripped the heart of The First Man of every cloak, so that it lay without the protection of church or creed, and lo, upon it was graven the life-time thought of him; the mental debauches in which he had indulged; the hate of his fellows which he had cherished even while his voice caroled hymns of praise to his Creator; the slavish fear that had restrained his actions; the motives of self-preservation that had inspired what the world had chosen to term his righteousness.

And when it was done The First Man stood trembling in fear, remembering heaven and remembering hell.

There is neither the one nor the other save as they exist in the heart of man," God answered his thought. "The Kingdom of God is within. Go forth and find it, returning not to Me until it is done."

Whereupon The First Man turned to make question when he was borne away to begin his life all over again, while The Second Man approached the Creator with head bowed low in humility.

"Behold Lord, I am here," he offered.

"But I am not fit for Thy presence.

"I am not of the fold.

"I have not always kept Thy commandments.

"I am not a member of the Church of Christ.

"Although I have spent my life loving Thee, even in my life I have stumbled and fallen.

"As the world counts righteousness I am not righteous, and I have nothing that I may now offer unto Thee in justification of the life Thou gavest me."

As he spoke The Second Man heard the sobbing of many voices, and when he lifted his head God smiled.

"The grief of those to whom you have ministered. The people you have served because the Church of Christ is not of yesterday, today nor yet tomorrow; neither here nor there; but in the heart of every man who does the right because it is the right."

And lo, the light of love which had guided The Second Man's life wrapped him now in spiritual effulgence, and the Kingdom of God, for which he had not sought, was at hand.

POST AND CORPS MEETING

N. P. Banks Post and Woman's Relief Corps held their regular monthly meeting on Friday, March 24, in G. A. R. hall on Glendale avenue, Tropic. These monthly gatherings have long since become an established institution and are hailed with delight by not only the members, but other patriotic citizens of our own and neighboring towns. The meeting of Friday was made pleasurable by visitors from Stanton Post and Corps, Glendale, Burbank and Eagle Rock, who, after an appetizing dinner, served by the committee composed of Mesdames Winona Crawford, Ada Atkinson, Lillian Peckham, Queen Danner and Edith Bruck, carried out a program of interest to all present.

Only the "Boys in Blue" who have passed through the ordeal of a war have the faintest conception of what it means to meet in social converse and recall the days of fifty years ago when they drank from the same canteen and shared blankets and hard tuck with a "bunkey."

Those who live in these times of peace have no conception of the joys that come into the lives of the brave defenders of our country by having the blessed privilege of meeting and talking over the days when the long roll on the snare drum was sounded; the cavalry trumpet called "to arms" and the sharp cry "Fall in! Fall in!" quickened the pulses, and the "Forward Charge" was answered by loyal, patriotic hearts who rushed forward to conquer or die.

Ah, it is only he who wears the bronze button in the lapel of his coat that really understand the horrors of war and all honor to them who brought this sun-kissed land of ours out of darkness.

The program for the afternoon consisted of music, both vocal and instrumental followed by the request of the president, that the five whose birthdays came in March, come to the platform as guests of honor. This was responded to by Rev. J. Henry, Abel Dufur, Mrs. Z. Brown, Mrs. Lucinda Thayer and Mrs. Ellen Early and they were introduced by Rev. C. R. Norton in a humorous manner, each responding to the call for remarks. Rev. Henry, his own accompanist at the piano, sang in a beautiful voice a negro melody which added to the pleasure of the audience.

Short, patriotic talks were given by Comrades Emick, Goss, Henry and Le Clerc. The latter, who is a resident of Eagle Rock, called the attention of post and corps to the fact that although there are but six members of the G. A. R. and only one member of the W. R. C. in Eagle Rock, still they are patriotic and to show that their city is on the map they will hold memorial services there Sunday preceding Decoration day in the M. E. church and invited all who could to attend and to select some member of the Corps to give an address on patriotism and Mrs. Flora Pixley, past president, was chosen to represent N. P. Banks corps. Mrs. Mary Hartwell, past Dept. president; Mrs. Kate Humphrey, past Dept. president, and Mrs. Minnie Baker of Stanton W. R. C. were present and in session of the Corps gave lengthy talks on matters pertaining to the work of the order, making the day not only one of great enjoyment, but of profit as well as cementing more closely the ties of fraternity.

The next all-day meeting of Post and Corps will be April 28, when all friends will be welcome.

LEAVE FOR THE EAST

Mr. and Mrs. Ambrosini, 446 Jackson street, left for St. Paul, Minn., Saturday morning. During his stay in Glendale Mr. Ambrosini has been very active. He built one new house at Colorado boulevard and Broadway and also erected seven houses at Le-moore, Cal., one of which he sold. All his houses are rented. Mr. Ambrosini has great faith in the future of Glendale. It is some years since he bought various pieces of property in this city all of which have greatly advanced in value.

On his arrival in St. Paul Mr. Ambrosini will resume his presidency of the Forest cemetery, which is a valuable possession. He will also go on with the work of erecting the great granite mausoleum, which he is erecting at a cost of $200,000. This mausoleum has a capacity of 1340 crypts. It will take 200 carloads of granite to build it. It stands just outside the city limits of St. Paul to the north.

"I am very reluctant to leave Glendale," said Mr. Ambrosini. "I like this city and will ultimately settle in it when I have come to the point of getting out of the harness in St. Paul. The climate of Glendale is admirable for articles that can be purchased just as reasonably in Glendale. I think it is wrong to take the money that is earned here and send it to other cities, thus helping to build them up at the expense of one's own home town. The local merchants have put their capital in the city and have given testimony of their faith in the center in which they live and they deserve all the encouragement that can be offered them.

W. W. McELROY,
Member of Library Board,

EDITOR GLENDALE EVENING NEWS:—I believe in patronizing home industries and home merchants and I am willing always to give them a small margin over the city merchants when dealing in the same goods. I believe it is the duty of every citizen to patronize the home merchants because they are the backbone of the town and have given hostages to fortune by their investments here. They are deserving of encouragement in the way of buying from them. I have always bought of the home merchants irrespective of comparisons.

JOHN C. SHERER, City Clerk,
Editor Glendale Evening News: No man can expect to live in a town and not patronize the local merchants without injuring both himself and the city in which he lives. No one can expect the business interests of a town to prosper if its citizens spend their money elsewhere. If a town does not grow it is a detriment to live in it. I have always personally patronized the home merchant and my family has always done likewise. I get my share of business in Glendale and I consider it my duty to reciprocate as far as the business men of this city are concerned.

RECENT SALES OF H. L. MILLER COMPANY

During the past few days the H. L. Miller company has done considerable business in disposing of real estate. The company sold to W. Van Heemsbergen, who recently came to Glendale from New York city, two one-acre lots at Midway Park, the new San Fernando town site.

Mr. Van Heemsbergen at once built a temporary residence on one of the lots and is now laying foundation for a fine residence on the other lot which when completed will be a beautiful suburban home. Mr. and Mrs. Van Heemsbergen are so well pleased with the surroundings as found at Midway Park that they have reserved through the H. L. Miller Co. two more choice acres for friends who are coming in the near future to Southern California to make their home. The company also sold to Mr. H. V. Pratt of Los Angeles two one-acre lots and a five-acre lot at Midway Park.

To Mr. L. G. Bookman of Los Angeles was sold a one-acre homesite in the Glendale foothills near Kenneth road. Mr. Bookman is having plans now drawn for a pretty home on this lot, adding to the increasing number of nice homes covering our foothills.

The company also sold for Mr. T. J. Morgan a recently completed residence at 1451 Myrtle St.

FIRST LUTHERAN CHURCH

There will be an unusually interesting and important topic discussed by the pastor of the First English Lutheran church tomorrow in the morning service at 11 o'clock. The theme is "Is There Salvation Outside the Church?" Thinking men and women without church preference should make it a point to be present at this service to study with the pastor this very lively topic. Destiny is made by answering this great question. For today thousands conclude there is no necessity of belonging to church to obtain salvation. They can run their chances. Come and hear. In the evening the pastor will discuss "Some Great Confessions." All most cordially welcome. We have a seat for you. "Come thou with us and we will do thee good."

MORE LICENSES NEEDED

Complaint has been made to the police that a prominent Los Angeles milk company is peddling milk in the city of Glendale without sufficient license for the work. The city ordinance demands a license for each wagon thus employed. It is alleged that the company in question employs in Glendale four or five wagons and has only one license. This is being inquired into as is also the status of a bakery company from Los Angeles that has four or five wagons working here and not enough licenses for them, as is alleged.

KEPT UNSANITARY DAIRY

C. E. Shattuck, 821 S. Central avenue, was arraigned before Judge Whomes Saturday morning on a charge of keeping an unsanitary dairy. The charge was sworn to by State Inspector of Dairies Hasson and by Glendale's Dairy Inspector, Patrolman Hollenbeck. After hearing the evidence Judge Whomes fined Shattuck $15 and sentenced him to 90 days' imprisonment, but suspended the imprisonment part of the sentence. This is Shattuck's second offense.

I. O. O. F. MEETING

Quite an interesting meeting of the I. O. O. F., No. 388, was held in the hall, Third and Isabel, Thursday night. The attendance was large. After an interesting business session a generous banquet was enjoyed. U. K. Walker, district deputy grand master, was the principal speaker. He urged unity, brotherhood and progress.

STATE DESTROYS TONS OF UNFIT FOOD

SACRAMENTO, March 25.—Nearly a million pounds of foodstuffs, unfit for human consumption, have been condemned and destroyed by the California state board of health during the past four months. Some of these products were decayed, others were infected with worms; all were putrid and unfit for eating.

Prof. E. J. Lea, director of the board's bureau of foods and drugs, states that these foodstuffs which have been destroyed consist of 437 tons of condiments, chiefly catsup made from spoiled tomatoes, nearly seven tons of decomposed eggs, six tons of fruit, five tons of poultry and eight tons of miscellaneous food supplies.

The destruction of the catsup alone has undoubtedly prevented many cases of illness and unscrupulous dealers are now unable to procure these foodstuffs that are unfit for human consumption.

Many retailers have been buying such products at very low prices, and in turn they have been selling to the general public at low rates. This action of the board protects the honest dealer who is endeavoring to supply the public with wholesome foods at fair values from the competition of the dealer who is able to sell products at low rates because they are spoiled or adulterated.—Exchange.
